

Hair's to a New You!!

It's a New Year, so what are you waiting for?

It's time to do something about your hair loss. A key thing to remember about hair loss is that it's progressive, which means if you put it off for another year, you will lose more hair.

If you've been procrastinating about hair restoration, you're not alone. Hair loss affects more than 80 million American men and women.

One of my patients, John Ormond, a 47-year-old resident of Warwick, RI, started noticing a problem in his early 30's. Years later, when he spotted a friend at the store and tried to avoid running into her [for fear that she would notice his thinning hair], he knew it was time to do something about it.

In 2003, he finally decided to come in for a free, no-obligation personal consultation with me. When I showed him all the before and after photos of people who had hair restoration surgery, he couldn't believe it.

In October 2003, I transplanted John's own growing hair to the thin areas of his head that had bothered him so much for such a long time.

Before

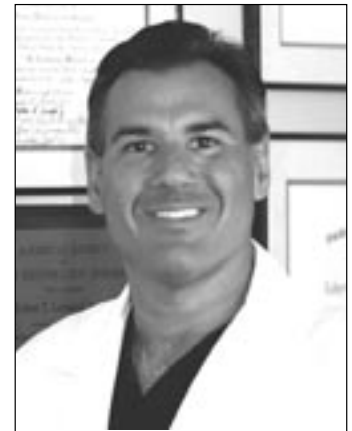

After

"My girlfriend says she notices a huge difference and thinks it looks great," he says. "I feel more confident now than I have for many years — and I even have waves in my hair again!"

I encourage you to make a commitment this year. Come to see me sooner rather than later to be evaluated and to start treatment. It costs nothing but your time to get honest, realistic answers from a hair loss expert with more than 19 years of experience.
